March 2005

The 12 Car Navigational series has now come to a successful conclusion with new winners of both the Drivers and Navigators championships. Fourteen months ago Vikki "Polly" Mead had never contested a motor club event but consistency and determination has seen her claim the Navigators award with Father Jerry "Pirate" Mead claiming the Drivers award. The championship is now as strong as it has ever been, with any one of three crews who could of taken championship spoils on the last round.

Another success story of this years championship has been Katy Rowe who also had never contested an event back in November but teamed up with James Goodfield has steadily improved to the point of putting the experienced crews to shame by winning a tricky last event of the season, this only goes to prove that the club's training scheme is working well and that the friendly atmosphere that exists at these events helps to encourage friendly competition.

With 12 car events being oversubscribe we are running another training evening on Thursday 31st March to cope with the demand so if you are interested in learning new skills or brushing up on old ones please come along.

Ben Jefferis is organising a Navigational Scatter on Friday 11th March, a new event on the clubs calendar and should prove attractive for novice crews.

The Corinium Run entries now stand at 43 and with 6 weeks remaining before the event we are expecting a full entry
